Subject: Alabama rape story

I know you're both away now, so please don't respond until next week, just writing this while it's fresh in my head --

Just got off the phone with the parents of Megan Rondini, the 21-year-old who killed herself after she was allegedly raped by this guy Terry Jackson Bunn Jr, whose comes from this family: http://www.stbunn.com/our_history.php who are essentially Alabama royalty. The way her family tells it, everyone involved -- the hospital, the cops, the University of Alabama -- refused to touch her case once they learned who the accused was. So it's part basic mishandled rape story, part southern coverup. I think it could potentially be a really great (heartbreaking) feature.

The parents are willing to meet with me as a first step this month and give me all the documents. They live in Austin. I think I should go after Michigan?
